Example

There is a proverb that says, Blood is thicker than water. A blood relationship is always found to be stronger and more valuable than mere friendship. I assume the saying will cross the girl's mind, too. She will definitely miss out on all the fun of her best friend's party, but I think to take care of her sick mother will be her priority. A birthday can be celebrated in so many ways, so not attending the party will not be a big deal. Finally, her best friend will understand her situation and will be proud of her because she decided to put her sick mother first above all else.

1. She entered a toy store with her mom and saw many toys.
2. She let go of her mother's hand to look at some toys closely.
3. After some time, she realizes that her mom is not with her.

Example It is important to give our all in everything we do because it demonstrates commitment to our jobs. Another thing is that giving our all in our work exemplifies how much we enjoy it. If we enjoy what we do, we will give it our all. Being able to work is a blessing; therefore, we should treasure the blessing that we have received by always giving our maximum performance. Aside from the fact that it will get you noticed by your employer, doing our best at work also means having fun at work. Aside from that, we can achieve our life goals by doing our best and working silently. There's an old saying that says, Let your success be your noise. I have learned by heart that no matter what I should always give my all to my work.

Example

One of the most important days of someone's life is his birthday. What makes it more special is when some people close to your heart don't forget to make you feel happy on the said date by giving you a present. If I were to choose what to receive on my birthday, I would rather choose money than a gift. It is important to be practical these days because, with the money that I would receive, it could go a long way. I could use it to purchase so many things that would be useful for me. I could buy something that I wanted and something that would make me happy. It is the thought that counts, they say but I say, money makes the world go round.

Image

Example

No matter how he likes to take the stray cat home and help it, he will hesitate to do it. Adopting a stray cat is more than just opening one's door and letting them inside. He is aware that welcoming a new pet into his life is a major moment, and it needs some thoughtful preparation. Even though he can't provide a permanent home for the cat, he will choose to give some food to it and provide a temporary shelter like an empty cardboard box. When he returns home, he will tell his parents about what he did and they will be proud of him.
